

Republican State Conventions.

A delegate convention of the Republicans of the State of Kansas will be held in Representative Hall, in the city of Topeka, on Wednesday afternoon, March 3rd, 1880, at 4 o'clock, for the purpose of selecting ten delegates and ten alternates to the National Republican Convention, to be held in Chicago, June 1, 1880, and nominating five Presidential Electors, to be voted for at the next November election.

It is recommended that the delegates from each County be selected in such manner, on the 20th day of March, 1880, as the various County Central Committees may determine, and that the committee in Counties having more than one Representative district shall distribute the delegates between the several districts, each district shall have at least one delegate. It is also recommended that the delegates from the several districts to the National Republican Convention, so that the four be chosen for the State at large and two from each of the Congressional Districts, and that each Congressional District have at least three of the whole number chosen.

By order of the Republican State Central Committee. CYRUS LELAND, Chairman.

Attent: WILLIAM THORNTON, Secretary.

Republican County Committees.

The various Republican County Committees are requested to meet at the Court House, in Troy, Tuesday, March 3rd, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

C. LELAND, Jr., Chairman.

C. B. RICKFORD, Secretary.

A Sound Position.

The Wichita Eagle is eminently sound in its remarks upon the relations of Gov. St. John to the Republican party. Republicans do not want any but a temperance man for Governor, but the party cannot and will not shoulder any man's ills or fanaticisms. Religious, moral and salutary questions are altogether out of its line, for any political party that attempts to adopt any such issues, breaks itself into pieces.

Gov. St. John and his apologists may insist to their utterance that prohibition is not a party issue, and that they do not intend to make it so; but the action of St. John has rendered it also utterly impossible for the Republican party not to accept and adopt the temperance issue, unless it throws him overboard, in an official capacity. He has forced the question upon the party, and the party is reduced to the alternative of accepting it or rejecting him. When he and his friends intimate that the opposition to him arises on account of his being a temperance man, they will find themselves mistaken. But they do object to his considering the temperance cause, as Governor, and compelling the party to pack that hotly, by re-nominating him. Gov. St. John commenced his temperance hobby before he was elected. A prohibitory law was one of his first official recommendations. He has done little else, since he has been in office, but carry on a temperance crusade. He has done nothing to attract public attention, except in the character of a monomaniac upon the subject of temperance, and in protesting against his re-nomination. He asks the Republicans to elect him to office, but demands that they take him on a chip, or, in other words, that they take him as he stands on the platform of the Prohibition party, whose nomination he rejected. He has brought it to such a pass, that the Republican party cannot endorse him without endorsing his temperance theories. If they re-nominate him, they fasten that issue upon the party, and it cannot be fought by the party, as a party, without endorsing him, and probably be elected, by a greatly reduced majority; but his nomination would be fatal to the Republican ticket in a majority of the most important Counties in the State. Such a head to the ticket, would be absolutely ruinous in many Counties. The Republicans of those Counties are not disposed to sacrifice their local tickets, in order to gratify any man, or to pull Gov. St. John through upon a hobby that he has persistently thrust upon the party. Harmony is to prevail in the party in Kansas, in the ensuing campaign, St. John "must go."

Kansas has plenty of better men for Governor than St. John. He is a man of little force, and less presence. Major Morrill, for instance, is a man of far more ability, more popular, and is a thorough practical temperance man; but in addition, he has common sense, and will never, for the gratification of a hobby, try to thrust issues upon the party that are not recognized in its platform, and that can have no other effect than to divide and disorganize.

A NICE KITE-TAIL.—We would like to ask those who advocate the policy of Kansas coming tagging in the wake of the other States, a sort of kite-tail, without an opinion of their own, but ready to swing to the winning wind, and who, by so doing, can gain by a course? Will Kansas stand any higher in public estimation by so doing? Will the winning man crown on Kansas, as she happens not to go for him on the first ballot? Will he refuse to appoint her citizens postmasters and revenue officers? Will he kick her out of the Union? Or, will he grand, magnificent President respect her for her independence, even if she should have preferred another man? He surely will. But a lot of political humbugs and sycophants think, if they can get control of the Kansas delegation, and hold it back until they see who is to be the rising man, then swing her into the boom, they will have a fat thing controlling the patronage and flogging the plunder. Do the Republicans of Kansas want to be tools for such fellows to work their little jobs with?

It is a wide-spread query as to whether the Ingalls blow-out at Atchison was a whole or a part of a party. We think not. It was started and carried out by citizens of Atchison. Almost none of the active promoters of it were Democrats, who are not interested in any election, and a large majority of the Republicans of Atchison are for Blaine. We are sure it was not started in the interest of Grant; but the politicians congregated there on that occasion, may have taken advantage of the opportunity to talk up the Grant movement. But just now, Ingalls would hardly risk spoiling his own "boom" in the hopeless effort to inaugurate a Grant movement.

We observe that Dr. J. M. Hodge has again been appointed to the Kirwin Land Office. Who did this? And did he do it for the purpose of concentrating the whole interest of the coming campaign on Dr. Hodge, as the last one was?

Henry Ward Beecher has come out for Grant for a third term. That ought to kill it. Gilbert Haven came out for Grant, and died. A hint for Beecher.

The Historical Record.

Every now and then, some superannated old politician, who lives in the past, and who has forgotten all about the place where he lives, starts up with some astounding historical "fact," to prove that the man whom he is not in favor of can never be elected, and that his facts will hold water. Some man in Ohio, named Wharton, who was in politics forty years ago, writes the Cincinnati Commercial some historical facts to annihilate Blaine's prospects. He says that it is impossible to elect a New England man President, as New England style and ideas do not take outside of that little corner. He mentions having been present at the inauguration of Harrison, in 1841, when he heard Daniel Webster make a statement to the above effect, and add that he had given up all aspirations for the Presidency. Now, it happens that all Mr. Wharton's facts are against him. Webster never gave up his aspirations for the Presidency, but in 1852 his friends made a most desperate struggle to nominate him, and his disappointment at not getting it was said to have hastened his death, in the October following. It was so increased that he discouraged support for him, rather than vote for Scott.

Let us look at the matter, from the very start. Washington had no opposition, either in 1789 or 1792. In 1796, John Adams, a New England man, beat Thomas Jefferson, a Virginian. In 1800, Jefferson was elected, his chief opponent being Aaron Burr, of New York, between whom there was a tie, and a protracted struggle. In 1804, Jefferson beat Charles Coatesworth Pinckney, of South Carolina. In 1808, James Madison beat Pinckney, and George Clinton, of New York.

In 1816, James Monroe beat Rufus King, of New York. In 1820, Monroe had no opposition. In 1824, John Quincy Adams, of New England, beat Jackson, Clay and Crawford. In 1828, Jackson beat Adams, who was the only New England man ever beaten for the Presidency, and then it was for a second term. In 1832, Jackson beat Clay, both Southern men. In 1836, Martin Van Buren, of New York, beat Harrison, and was the only New Yorker ever elected President. In 1840, William Henry Harris on beat Van Buren. In 1844, James K. Polk beat Henry Clay, both Southerners. In 1848, Zachary Taylor, of Louisiana, beat Lewis Cass, of Michigan. In 1852, Franklin Pierce, of New England, beat Gen. Scott, of New Jersey. In 1856, James Buchanan, of Pennsylvania, beat John C. Fremont, of California. In 1860, Abraham Lincoln beat Stephen A. Douglas, both of Illinois. In 1864, Lincoln beat George B. McClellan, of New Jersey. In 1876, Grant beat Horatio Seymour, of New York. In 1878, Grant beat Orator Greeley, of New York. In 1880, R. H. Hayes beat Samuel J. Tilden, of New York.

Thus, it will be seen that but one New England candidate has ever been beaten for the Presidency, and that was for a second term. But one New Yorker has ever been elected, while New Yorkers have been beaten at fully one-half the Presidential elections since the foundation of the Government. Come along with those who "fact."

STUBBIES.—Atchison is in a turmoil over the certain removal of the pork packing house from that place to Kansas City. The citizens of Atchison gave thousands of dollars to the proprietors of the establishment, as a subsidy for locating there, with the implied understanding that it would be permanent; and hundreds of laboring men built houses there, with the same expectation. They consider the removal absolute robbery, and compelling the party to pack that hotly, by re-nominating him. Gov. St. John commenced his temperance hobby before he was elected. A prohibitory law was one of his first official recommendations. He has done little else, since he has been in office, but carry on a temperance crusade. He has done nothing to attract public attention, except in the character of a monomaniac upon the subject of temperance, and in protesting against his re-nomination. He asks the Republicans to elect him to office, but demands that they take him on a chip, or, in other words, that they take him as he stands on the platform of the Prohibition party, whose nomination he rejected. He has brought it to such a pass, that the Republican party cannot endorse him without endorsing his temperance theories. If they re-nominate him, they fasten that issue upon the party, and it cannot be fought by the party, as a party, without endorsing him, and probably be elected, by a greatly reduced majority; but his nomination would be fatal to the Republican ticket in a majority of the most important Counties in the State. Such a head to the ticket, would be absolutely ruinous in many Counties. The Republicans of those Counties are not disposed to sacrifice their local tickets, in order to gratify any man, or to pull Gov. St. John through upon a hobby that he has persistently thrust upon the party. Harmony is to prevail in the party in Kansas, in the ensuing campaign, St. John "must go."

Col. D. W. Houston, who laid down the editorial tripod, some years ago, in writing letters in favor of the nomination of Grant. He wants the South to be conciliated, and thinks Grant is the man to do it, while Blaine is so cold and aggressive that he could not conciliate. If Col. Houston wants conciliation, why doesn't he advocate the re-election of Hayes, whose administration has been devoted to conciliating? A man like Blaine, positive in his convictions, and with the spark to maintain them but who does not carry his political prejudices into his life, would possess the respect of the South in a greater degree, and do more to conciliate, than any man who uses a fresh sausage for a spine.

THE Chicago dispatch, about Jay Gould having charge of the Blaine movement, and that his Kansas agent, Alexander Caldwell, is working up the Blaine cause in this State, is about the thinnest thing we have seen lately. The Republicans of Kansas are working up the Blaine movement, and it is outsiders and their agents who are trying to control the State for Grant. Mr. Caldwell is talking about as much part in Kansas politics as Peter Old Hermit is, and could do so much as much in controlling the mind of the President, as Ring, if it is in order for the Herald to squall, and set the little row.

A long discussion is going on in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, as to the Jewish belief in immortality, from which we gather that they believe in a Heaven and a Hell. But what chance will a Jew stand in Hell, without a forerun? Borie's will was found to contain a bequest to O. E. Balcock. There is where the row arose that it was Grant. It was known that some one of the crowd had received a legacy.

New York.—New York has done as was anticipated, in the work of forcing Gov. Grant upon an unwilling party, for a third term. But the triumph was nothing to brag of. It must have surprised the leaders of the movement. With all the machinery of the Crankling men, especially in the large cities, which send a majority of the delegates, and with all manner of trickery resorted to, to secure delegates, they had not a narrow margin to go on. Cooking was chosen a delegate to the State Convention, but gave it out that his place was in the Senate, and he should not attend the Convention. The alarm of danger came, and Cookling left his place in the Senate, to hasten to the Convention, to use his personal influence to force an endorsement of Grant, Cornell, and Arthur, and Murphy, to name a few, and many others who had contributed to make Grant's administration a scandal. The principal feat was upon instructing the delegates to the National Convention for Grant. Cookling made the "greatest effort of his life," in favor of a third term. The opposition concentrated upon a resolution in favor of instructing for Blaine—somehow, they all rally to Blaine, when any hard work is to be done. And with all the influences and personal appeals in favor of Grant, the resolution to instruct for him was carried by a meagre 27 majority out of a vote of about 400. And after they had accomplished it, as in the case of Pennsylvania, they went away feeling that they had fumbled and tricked the party into doing a thing contrary to their wishes and feelings. But the "boom" must be kept up. Illinois is the next great State to bind and deliver over.

A GRIEVANCE.—Chauncey I. Filly, leader of the Grant force in Missouri, has written the President an indignant letter, demanding whether he was earnest in his Civil Service reform, and whether he proposed to enforce it, or will permit it to be violated right under his nose. It is a pertinent inquiry, and one that might justly have been made, under ordinary circumstances. But Filly's indignation arises from the fact that Sherman has been using his influence, through officeholders, to secure delegates in Missouri, when Filly wants them for Grant. It is refreshing to hear Filly speak a man who, while holding office, used his whole machinery to accomplish political ends. Being now an out, and in order to elect the man who made him an in, and of whom he expects new favors, he is very anxious for an enforcement of Civil Service rules.

Senator Ingalls, in his Atchison speech, was very bitter upon Judge Horton, and gave him a character for infamy, "equalled by few and surpassed by none." He denounced him as a rascal, and as a rascal he was treated for office, who had betrayed every friend, robbed every client, and dealt out justice for pay. Yet Ingalls tried to make Horton United States District Judge for Kansas, and gave it up only to prevent threatened assaults upon Horton by Guthrie, one of his right hovers in opposing Ingalls. If Horton is so bad, how is Ingalls, who tried to place him in a life office? Such is politics.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.—Quite a large number of gentlemen are spoken of in connection with the Attorney-Generalship of the State, or as candidates for the Ruppert office, in the coming fall. Among them all, we hear none spoken of in higher terms than Hon. R. S. Heck, of Louisville, Puttawatomie County. Those who know him, and are competent to judge, pronounce him an accomplished lawyer, and a thorough gentleman. He hails from an important and growing County—one of the oldest in the State, and that has never, we believe, been represented in a State office.

In every State where a Convention can be packed for Grant, the delegates for Chicago are instructed for Grant. In States that are so strongly for Blaine that the Conventions cannot be packed for Grant, the Grant leaders usually suggest and entreat that the delegates be not instructed, but be left unhampered. They are doing this in Kansas. The Blaine men have the example of Pennsylvania and New York before them, and act accordingly.

The friends of Ex-Gov. Anthony and Gov. St. John are fighting, and telling tales out of school. The substance of their confessions is, that there was a bargain and sale between Anthony and St. John, at the last State Convention, whereby the choice of the Republicans was thwarted. St. John got the goods, and thus refused to pay the purchase price. Hence the quarrel. Let the Republican party see to it that they are not sold again.

JAY GOULD.—The people of the West seem to have a billy-fell for Jay Gould. Awhile back, it was supposed he was going to make a metropolitan of every town in the West, and they were trying to outdo each other in giving him bridges, bonds, railroads, and all sorts of things. He has gone back on nearly all of them, and they are now abusing him. The Western frogs are sick of King Stork.

Indians has elected her delegates to the Chicago Convention by Districts, having no State Convention to be packed by office-holders. The result is, all the Districts have elected Blaine delegates except one, which sends Sherman delegates. There is not a Grant man in the crowd. So it would be everywhere, if Republican Conventions were permitted to run on Republican principles—by the people.

The Atchison Globe is fawning upon Senator Ingalls. We have never seen anything like it, nor read anything like it, except in Zep's Fables. We believe the story related to a jack-ass trying to caress his master. But the master had probably bought that jack-ass, while the Globe is only wanting to be bought.

The Hiawatha Herald has taken the alarm, and will doubtless soon abandon the Blaine outfit. It has been ascertained that about all the Republicans of Brown County are for Blaine, and as this includes the "Ring," it is in order for the Herald to squall, and set the little row.

A long discussion is going on in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, as to the Jewish belief in immortality, from which we gather that they believe in a Heaven and a Hell. But what chance will a Jew stand in Hell, without a forerun? Borie's will was found to contain a bequest to O. E. Balcock. There is where the row arose that it was Grant. It was known that some one of the crowd had received a legacy.
